Basket Ball.

Town vs. Dormitory Boys.

It was clearly proved that interest in basketball is not dead when the town students lined up last Friday night against the Stetson-East Hall team. The young ladies showed as much interest in this game as the boys had displayed under more adverse circumstances in the game a week previous. They showed their spirit by cheering enthusiastically for their respective teams. The game was very interesting and was hard-fought from the first whistle. It cannot however, be called a good exhibition of basketball.

It was very rough from the start, and, although many fouls were called, yet it seemed impossible for the officials to keep the men from rough play, and it is safe to say that more fouls were allowed to go uncalled than were given by the officials. Soon after the game started a foul was called on the dormitory and Stewart threw a beautiful goal. The dormitory soon had their turn and Pounds dropped the ball neatly into the basket. This was the way the game was played throughout. Wilder, however, managed to throw three goals from the field, and Pelot one, before time was called, while many fouls were called on both sides, most of which resulted in goals. At the end of the first half the score stood 11 to 5 in favor of the dormitory.

SECOND HALF.

The second half exhibited the same style of play, and at the end the score stood: Dormitory, 17; town, 8.

The feature of the game was the work done by Stewart in throwing fouls. He threw six goals out of eight chances.

The line-up was as follows:

Dormitory.		Town.
Pounds		Stewart
Pelot	Forwards	Hamlin
		Sparkman
Duncan	Center	Leitner
Wilder		Geiger
Mickle	Guards	Sparkman
		Hamlin

AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH.

Dr. Hulley Preaches to a Crowded House.

The large audience room of the Baptist church, and the gallery, were both filled Sunday morning when Dr. Hulley preached, taking as his text the seventeenth verse of the second chapter of St. John's Gospel. "The zeal of thine house hath eaten me up."

Dr. Hulley in his whole sermon emphasized the energy of Christ's life. The mediaeval painters, he said, have given us beautiful portraits of the Savior. They are portraits that are and always will be admired. But the conception of Jesus they have given us is a one-sided, a partial one. They emphasized His meekness and His humility, and one might get the conception of a weak, flabby personality from those pictures. It is true that He was meek and tender, tender with the tenderness of a woman, but strong with the strength of a man.

No one who reads the vigorous statements of the Savior, who considers the kind of men He chose as His disciples, can help feeling the intensity of this personality. All the disciples chosen were men ready to undergo hardships, privations and martyrdom, if necessary.

The gospels chronicle only His external, public career, but not His inner private life. They could not tell what went on within when He was driven by His soul anguish to spend forty days in the wilderness, struggling against temptation. Could any weak, namby-pamby personality have done what Christ did in the way of miracles?

And lastly, no one but a man of strong, virile personality could possibly have undergone the struggle in the Garden of Gethsemane. The disciples could not stay awake and only give us snatches of His bitter agony. What then must His real sufferings have been? So while it is right to remember the tenderness of Jesus, we must also regard His strength, and not have a one-sided conception.

Mrs. Sullivan, of Chicago, rendered a solo that was exceedingly enjoyed.

Rhetoricals.

The fall term rhetoricals were held last Friday at 3 p. m. A fair sized audience greeted the young orators and filled the hearts of some of them with appalling fear. Never mind! Every one must have his first real scare, and the sooner it's over the better it is.

Below we give the program entire. Number two was enjoyed by a section of the room, and numbers three, eight, twelve and fifteen were especially enjoyed by the whole audience.

Pupils' Recital.

The fall term recital by the pupils of the Music Department will occur Friday night, December 16, at 8 o'clock p. m. The students and public are all cordially invited to attend this musicale, and we would urge them all to do so. The organ recitals by Prof. Morse have been greatly appreciated, and we feel sure that those who attend this recital will feel well paid for coming.

A History of Stetson University.

From the earliest history of the University till the year 1897, chapel exercises were held in what is now known as the kindergarten room of DeLand Hall. In the spring of 1897 work was begun on the memorial chapel, the south wing of Elizabeth Hall, and pushed forward all summer and autumn. By January of 1898 it was completed, and the first chapel exercises were held there the beginning of the winter term.

Prof. W. A. Sharp, who was the art teacher then, designed the memorial windows on either side of the pipe organ, and also the Bible stand on the rostrum. Another specimen of his work hangs on the north wall of the chapel. It is a splendid reproduction of the famous painting, "Christ Before Pilate."

About the same time that the chapel was built, the north wing, the library, was completed, and the books which in '92, were moved from the upper assembly room in DeLand Hall to again moved, this time to remain in the new library.

The need of another men's dormitory was soon felt; so in 1901 the University erected Conrad Hall, which was named after Mr. Conrad, one of the chief contributors toward defraying the cost of the building. When finished it stood—a large frame building—a short distance north of Chaudoin Hall, and was well filled with students from the time of its completion till September, 1903, when it burned to the ground just two nights before the opening of the fall term of school.

In 1900 the house and lot known as the Hudson property, standing immediately east of Stetson Hall, was bought and fitted up as a men's dormitory and named East Hall.

Two years later work was begun on Science Hall—a handsome building after the Spanish style of architecture, standing on the west side of the Boulevard, facing Elizabeth Hall. By the first of October, 1902, the greater part was ready for use, but was not entirely completed till the early part of 1903.

The art studio was first in a small upper room in DeLand Hall, but in '02, when the library was moved to Elizabeth Hall, the old library room, now known as the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. room, became the studio. The third and final change was made when Science Hall was completed, and Room 25 became the permanent studio.

The power house, which before occupied a position west of the gymnasium and about half way between Chaudoin and DeLand Halls, was moved across the Boulevard to the rear of Science Hall. Of course, this necessitated some change in the position of the old steam pipes and the laying of many new ones; so for a time the campus was in a state of upheaval, but all things were ready for use when the first cold weather came. Science Hall was the last addition to the list of University buildings, and was formally presented on Presentation day, February, 1903.

GIRLS MIGRATE TO SUNNY SOUTH.

Party of Twenty to Spend the Winter Quarter at Stetson University.

Twenty women students from the halls are preparing to spend the winter quarter at the John B. Stetson University, DeLand, Florida. They will leave during the Christmas holidays by a special car which will stop over at various places on the journey for little side trips to points of interest.

Among those who have signified their intention of going are: Grace Beed, Stella Moore, Evaline Dowling, Cecil Palmer, Elizabeth Miner, Frances Benedict, Mae Bradley, Bernice Dodge, Lucina Kipley, Ethelinde Sherwood, Loretta Toner, Marjorie Powell, Gertrude Howard and Ivy Brown. The chaperones have not yet been announced.

The trip will be made via Chattanooga, where a day's stop will be allowed in order to visit Lookout Mountain and the National Cemetery. The party will also stop over at Atlanta and Jacksonville for a couple of days. From the latter place the boat will be taken down the St. Johns river to DeLand. Chances will also be given for short trips to St. Augustine and Palm Beach. A special rate has been made covering the whole trip. A few places are vacant and information can be obtained from Miss Cecil Palmer, Green Hall.

H. I. Markham is transportation manager and can furnish information in regard to rates and accommodations.—Chicago Maroon.

Vesper Service.

Prof. R. J. McDougall conducted the evening services last Sunday, speaking briefly on the effects of our actions and attitudes upon the ambitions of others who may happen to come under our influence. Before the talk the choir sang "The Lord is My Shepherd" without the organ accompaniment. This selection was very well rendered and much enjoyed by the audience.

Next Sunday afternoon a large congregation is expected, as the service will be given over almost entirely to special Christmas music.

Miss Pearl Spaulding will sing a solo at the service.

Miss Webster's "At Home."

Miss Ethel Webster was hostess on last Saturday afternoon to the members of the Young Woman's Christian Association, in the parlors of Chaudoin. This was the first of a number of at homes which have been planned for the Association girls during the year. The afternoon was spent in playing games, and wound up with a wild peanut scramble, in which some of the girls showed their grabbing ability to great advantage, and also demonstrated beyond a doubt that Chaudoin fare had not impaired their appetites.

In all probability there will be several changes in the editorial staff this next term. The paper is too apt to become stale with the same force always acting in the same way.

In another column is an article copied from the Chicago Maroon, the official students' publication of Chicago University. From that we learn that about twenty young ladies from that place will attend Stetson next quarter. Needless to say we'll be glad to see them, and hope they'll enjoy and profit by their stay with us.

Those who have become alarmed lest the girls be prevented from playing basketball again, should calm their fears. Last Friday evening in the gymnasium the young men, headed by Prof. Sears, gave nine rousing cheers for girls' basketball, and signified their intention of promoting the interests of that organization by every means in their power. When the boys say they'll help a thing along, they will; so we need have no more fears on the score.

We are afraid that the students are letting trivial personal matters come in the way of their relations towards certain of our organizations. We would call attention to the Athletic Association especially. It has come to a point where athletics must claim an important part in a school's activity. At the last meeting of the Association it seemed as though a small, political clique was managing the athletic interests of the institution. We are sure that it is only unconscious negligence on the part of the students, but it is none the less wrong. Some method of bringing the Association and its work nearer the student body ought to be instituted. Can you suggest some way? For some reason the body of students do not feel that their interests are at stake. They ought to.

Inasmuch as next Wednesday is the last day of the fall term, and that day is preceded by two solid days of examinations, this is the last issue of the Collegiate for 1904. We most heartily wish the readers and subscribers a very Merry Christmas and Happy New Year, and feel sure that our wishes will be granted. Regarding all other people, we are not so certain, but still hope that such will be the case. Have all the recreation you possibly can during the vacation. If you've worked hard this term, playing will be a very beneficial change; if you've played all the term (of course there are none such here), work will do wonders for you these next two or three weeks. At any rate, be sure to return to school with at least one new resolution that you intend to work out.

Open Meeting of the Literary Society.

Last Saturday night the Stetson Literary Society held an open meeting. Many invitations were issued and the Society room was crowded. An interesting program was rendered and greatly enjoyed by all.

After a few words of welcome from the president, Miss Hampton, the debate—"Resolved, that compulsory education should be adopted in Florida"—was argued, on the affirmative by Messrs. Lentestey and Woodward, on the negative by Messrs. Moffatt and Stevens. The decision of the judges was rendered in favor of the negative.

Much to the regret of all present, Miss Spaulding was prevented from singing.

After Miss Walker had given a full account of the current events of the past week, Miss Morrish recited, "How Me and My Bettie Killed the B'ar," in a very pleasing manner.

The Glee Club then sang "Take My Love to Rosalie," with excellent effect, and were, of course, heartily encored.

Miss Jackman, the extemporaneous stand-by, entertained the audience for some time on the subject, "Trials of Dormitory Life." She certainly seemed to know what she was talking about. (We do not mean that the extempore was prepared ahead of time.)

Next on the program was a reading by Miss Munsell. A hearty encore showed the appreciation of the audience.

The last number was an excellent oration, "The New Republic of Panama and its Possibilities," delivered by Mr. Stewart and listened to with much interest.

A good deal of interest seems to be taken in the Literary Society work this year, and we hope the interest will continue.

Have you got a cold?

Yale's water polo men have challenged the Chicago University.

Mr. Scott, of Hamilton, Canada, is the latest arrival in Stetson Hall.

Armstrong is able to be up and around after a severe siege of fever.

Miss Claudia Carlton and Miss Worley are the latest arrivals in Chandon Hall.

Election of officers will be held in almost all the organizations this week.

George Calhoun has been seriously affected with a remarkable cold this week.

Miss Nancy L. Hill was called home Sunday by the serious illness of her mother.

Hereafter Syracuse freshmen will be permitted to wear a derby hat on Sundays.

Miss Lula Lutz and Miss Lutz, of Wabash, Ind., have arrived to spend the winter at the Putnam.

The Chemical Department is having photos taken this week. No doubt they'll use them as Xmas presents.

Mrs. L. J. Davis, formerly Miss Lillie Swift, of DeLand, has ordered the Collegiate to be sent to her home in Gadsden, Ala.

Work on Prof. Baldwin's new home on Michigan avenue is being hurried along and the frame work is already well under way.

In John Marshall Law School, Mrs. John D. Sherman has been chosen to succeed ex-Senator Wm. E. Mason as instructor in parliamentary law.

The Chicago University Rooters' Club has received a donation of six hundred megaphones for use at football games. They won't make much noise, will they?

The first part of this month the pest house at Ann Arbor was blown up just before the removal thither of some smallpox patients. Some one must have objected to quarantine.

Says the Howard Collegian, of East Lake, Alabama: "It is a source of much regret that so many of our colleges in this fair Southland neglect the Y. M. C. A." We are glad this criticism does not apply to us.

The Y. W. and Y. M. C. A.s have secured and placed in the wall above the watering trough in Elizabeth Hall, a lockable concern with glass front in which they now display their posters. This is dealing all kleptomaniacs and souvenir hunters a death blow sure enough.

The football game scheduled and promised for last Monday has been called off. The Rollins College people wanted to have the game Thursday, but inasmuch as that would be too near examination time, the management here objected. They must not have been very anxious to have a game with us, if arrangements could not be made satisfactorily. The citizens of DeLand were anxious to see the game.

Prof. Wheeler, president of the University of California, has officially stated that no student of that University may graduate who is insubordinate to the military discipline of the United States. He says, "We are under contract with the United States government to give four years' instruction in military discipline, under the supervision of the war department, and there will be no exception made."

Books to be Returned.

All books belonging to the Library must be returned by Monday, December 19th. You'll not have time to read during examinations (at least you shouldn't take the time) and the librarian must have the books so as to arrange everything satisfactory for the winter term. If you've procured a book from the Library illegitimately, you'd better be the more careful in returning it, otherwise "woe be upon your head."

Y. W. C. A.

The Thursday afternoon meeting of the Y. W. C. A. was well attended last week. All who came were delighted with Mrs. Eccles and her talk about the social, religious and intellectual life of the Chinese in New York. Mrs. Eccles has done much work among the Chinese herself, and she told many interesting little anecdotes from her own personal experience, which all thoroughly enjoyed. Mrs. Hulley has promised to lead this week, and all the girls are cordially invited to come.

Mrs. Hulley has kindly consented to serve as advisory officer of the Y. W. C. A. The Association is beginning to look forward to the visit of Miss Mabel K. Stafford in February. Miss Stafford is the traveling secretary for the Gulf States, and organized the Association in Stetson during her visit here last spring.

Lovingly Inscribed to E. E. W.

(With many apologies.)

The little tin cup is battered and dim
But round and fat it stands
And every hour 'tis filled to the brim
By eager, waiting hands.

Last year the little tin cup was new
And the maiden was passing fair
Whose tender heart and sympathies drew
Her to buy and place it there.

The lordly senior, the humble "prep"
The deans and faculty all
Passing along with weary step,
Pause by the southern wall.

And gratefully lifting the little tin cup
To lips that are famished and dry,
Tenderly think of her as we sup,
And turn away with a sigh.

The little tin cup will pass away
Where good, little tin cups go
But we'll lovingly cherish for many a day
Her memory who placed it there.

(Ed. Note—This poem was written before the cup "passed away," and therefore can be so much better appreciated.)

ORATORICAL ASSOCIATION.

Reorganizes With Most Pleasant Feeling.

Last night the Oratorical Association reorganized. The meeting was characterized by the lack of any of the former friction and strife that has been the rule at all previous meetings. Indeed, it was called by some a veritable "love feast." Mr. D. J. Blocker was unanimously elected president for the ensuing year, Mr. E. F. Oates vice-president and Miss Clara Primm secretary-treasurer. After a little discussion as to the work of the Association, the body adjourned.
